The business entrepreneur Gamal Haché, producer of the revolutionary concerts, claimed that "Jennifer Lopez Live at Chavon" promises to be an event packed with energy and amazing dancers, choreography, lights, visuals as well as the Latin star's acclaimed repertoire.

The highly popular actress is also known for giving high energy performances, where she includes a wide selection of Latin music, combined with fusions of funk, hip hop, pop and other sounds that are her signature style.

Her long list of hits includes "On the Floor", "Dance Again" "What You Did", "Jenny From the Block", "Get Right", "Hold It Don't Drop It" and "Ain't it Funny".

Last Wednesday, the artist resumed her show in Las Vegas, after closing with an unprecedented 2016 in her career and after setting a new milestone with her show "All I Have", which broke attendance records at Planet Hollywood Resort & Casino.

The president of Casa de Campo stressed that "The resort is preparing to offer special packages that will include concert tickets to complement an unforgettable stay".

The performance in Altos de Chavon will coincide with the promotion of her new music material that is entirely in Spanish, and that she is recording together with the multi-award winner Marc Anthony, who is also the executive producer.
